Dear Friends,

It gives me immense pleasure in welcoming you to 8th edition of TOXOCON 2014 conference on "Household Poisons - The Lurking Danger in Every Home" at JIPMER. The poisoning from the exposure of Household agents are ignored even though they are commonly encountered in routine medical practice. This conference will review not only its toxicological aspects but also diagnosis, management and prevention of common household agents; along with the medico legal aspects thereof. We invite forensic specialists, toxicologists, general physicians, internal medicine specialists, emergency medicine specialists, intensivists, pediatricians, and all others who deal directly or indirectly with household poisoning (domestic toxicology). We extend you all a very warm invitation to experience the charms of this erstwhile French colony and actively participate in the discussions and share your knowledge and experience with colleagues.
