

INFANT CHOKING FATALITY BY A PENCIL IN TRACHEAL TUBE

H A Abder-Rahman, MD, JMC, PhD*

I M Al-Abdallat, MD, JMC

Ibrahim Obaidat, MD, JMC

Forensic Medicine and Pathology Department, Faculty of Medicine

The University of Jordan, Amman, Jordan

E--mail: toxico@ju.edu.jo

Abstract:

Airway obstruction from a foreign body in young children is rare but can still cause considerable morbidity and mortality. A unique fatal case of an 11-month-old infant with obstruction of the trachea by a piece of a pencil is presented, together with a review of the literature.
